PWENTE STARTERS OUT OF FORTY-SEVEN EN

TRIES-THE WINNERS AND THEIR RECORDS. Twenty vessels out of forty-seven entries started sterday in the annual open fall regatta of the Harlem acht Club. The start was a flying one across an imaginary line between the anchored flag-boat Crystal Stream, and Tyler's Pavilion, at College Point, and ward; one mile. Starters were: Mirth, Cupid, Carus, Doubt, Birthday and Bonnie King. Bonnie King and Birthday ran a dead heat with Doubt second. Time—11424. Birthday won the run-off in 1143. was made one hour late. The course for classes B. C. D and F was to and around Sand's Point Buoy and return, and yachts passing to westward of Stepping Stones Light both ways. For class G and H the course was to and around Gangway Buoy, the finish being over the starting line. A prize was given to the winner in each class; the "Commodore's Cup" to the yacht making the fastest time over the Sand's Point course, without time allowance, and the Balley prize, to the yacht making the fastest time over the Gangway course The wind was eight knots, n. w. until the turn, and then shifted, making the sailing a close haul up and a bent windward back.

THE CONEY ISLAND RACES TO-DAY.

SALVATOR TO RUN WITH 122 POUNDS UP. The attractions at the Coney Island Jockey Club paces to-day will be the Gleaners' Stakes for two-year olds, three-quarters of a mile, the Sheepshead Stakes for three-year-olds, a mile and a quarter, and three handicaps, one at one mile and three-eighths, anothe at one mile and one-eighth, and a third at one mile and five eighths on the grass.

. The first race at a mile, with selling allowances, will bring out a big field. Nineteen are put down to start, nearly all at very light weights. To pick out of such a lot the first and second horses would puzzle a Philadel-The Gleaners' Stakes will come second. Salvator will run at 122 pounds, and his form and speed are so high that he ought to win, although he is concedin much weight to some fast youngsters. so consistently that he may get second place, although Bine Rock with his light weight is dangerous. Yum Yum has never gone in public a mile and a quarter, and her ability to do so in fast company is uncertain. Yet she has shown such speed that she ought to win the Sheepshead Stakes, although she is conceding weight to all the other starters. Santalene

Los Angeles is attempting a big task when she tries to take up 115 pounds and concede much weight to every other starter. Joseph is an uncomfortable sort of a creature, with little to recommend him to the respect of any one, but he is in very light, and has shown ability to go a distance with light weight. Hence he may, in spite of his poor class and slow rate of prosion, win the fourth race, with Lelex second.

If Kaloolah ever can win a race, her chance comes to day in the fifth race, where she is only called upon to carry 104 pounds, and Wary and Swift are asked to carry 104 pounds, and Wary and Swift are asked to concede her weight. Eadly as she has run this year, Kaloolsh should win the fifth race, with swift second. If McLaughin rines Areimo he might win the heavyweigh handleap at a mile and five fortongs on the grass; but no one else hours how to handle this heavy-headed, sluggish, clumsy horse. Empert ought to run second to Areimo, and might win if McLaughin does not ride Areimo, while Pes Weep must be considered dangerous.

IS THE MOVEMENT HILL-WARD?

LIQUOR DEALERS TO MEET TO-DAY, BUT NOT, IT IS SAID, FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES. Three hundred delegates representing the liquor traffic of the country, will meet at Chickering Hall this morning at 11 o'clock. They compose what is called the National Protective Association, and this will be its third annual convention. Last year it was held in Cincinnati. A meeting of the executive committee to agree upon the resolutions to be adopted by the convention was neld yesterday at No. 8 South William-st. Among those present were J. M. Atherton, of Louisville, president of the association, who owns five or six distilleries in Larne County, Ky., and is said to be the largest whisher distiller in the United States; Cyrus C. Turner, also of Louisville, the secretary; W. E. Weld, a leading wholesale liquor dealer, of Boston; Colonel Charles McK. Leoser, of the firm of Bonfort & Locser; H. B. Miller, the proprietor of the extensive distillery at South Bend, and known in that State as " Buffalo" Miller: Peter McQuade, a New York wholesale Equor dealer; and Michael Kehoe, of Chicago, and Samuel Werthelmer, of Pittsburg, also wholesale liquor dealers in the cities named.

The members of the committee, in conversation, pro tested yesterday that there was no politics in their ion, and that no money was to be raised or used in the interest of any candidate. In spite of the protests there are many who believe that an elecfund to aid Governor Hill in his efforts to be reelected will be voted, or in some way raised and appropriated, though necessarily with all possible ecrecy. A dinner will be given by the association at Deimonico's on Wednesday evening, to which Mayor Hewitt, Henry Watterson, Dr. R. A. Witthaus, the well-known lecturer on chemistry, the Consular representatives of many of the foreign countries on duty in New-York, the Excise and Police Comissioners and others have been invited; and several of them are expected to reply to toasts.

Several years ago the wholesale hatters of the country tried to prevent the factory agents from selling large retailers by threatening to boycott any who did. A committee of hat jobbers were interrogating a certain factory agent who claimed not to sell retailers, when one of their number asked him, "Don't you sell Rogers, Peet & Co.?" "Yes," was his reply, "and they buy more hats and pay me quicker than you

That explains the whole matter The boycott wouldn't work, we com tinued to get all the hats we wanted direct from the factory, and the growth of our hat trade indicates that men really do not object to buying hats in a clothing store if they can save a dollar thereby.
